Be a Eucharist Person: In simple terms this means imitating Jesus in our thoughts, words and actions. The Eucharist is Christ's Body-broken and his Blood-poured-out for others.

St Teresa of Avila says so eloquently and beautifully

"Christ has no body now but yours. No hands, no feet on earth but yours. Yours are the eyes through which he looks compassion on this world. Yours are the feet with which he walks to do good. Yours are the hands through which he blesses all the world. Yours are the hands, yours are the feet, yours are the eyes, you are his body. Christ has no body now on earth but yours."

We will participate fully in the Eucharist only to the extent that we imitate, in all aspects of our lives, the generosity, the unselfishness, and the loving, that we see in the life and death of Jesus himself.

There is a purpose for coming to Mass. We may come for the grace given, for the peace, for the beauty, for the simplicity. We may come for a number of reasons, but we come firstly to receive Jesus, really present, abiding always, and what we receive we resolve to imitate in our attitudes to living. We resolve to love. The Eucharist will certainly help us to be more thoughtful and compassionate and forgiving Eucharistic persons. This happens practically when we love, and see service of one another, as a primary aspect of being a Eucharistic person. Just as Jesus brought the confirmation of God's love, salvation and healing to the world, so must we proclaim. This means that we are to care for others, feeding them, forgiving them, accepting them and helping them to discover the joy of being children of God. In these ways, we may truly become Eucharistic persons.

The heart's vocation to love is tested in the maelstrom of life, in the calm and peaceful waters of life, in the rough seas too; so participating in the Eucharist is a way of enabling the heart to explore that vocation to love. Be a Eucharistic person, embrace the heart's vocation to love.

The Parishes operate in accordance with Statutory Safeguarding Guidance and the National and Archdioceses policies & procedures at all times.
